There still seems to be a considerable opposition manifested by certain parties against taking Treasury notes at par who would otherwise have enjoyed the confidence and praiseworthy reputation of their fellow citizens for being good Union men—loyal citizens—patriotic supporters of this Federal Government had it not been for the recent issuing of these "green backs" or promises to pay by the Government which these former loud-mouthed patriots now refuse to take in exchange for their wares and merchantable stocks. We have recently heard of several of this class of false professors who while there was no fear or probability of their being called upon to contribute either in money or goods to the support of the Government, or aid and assist in upholding and preserving the honor and credit of the nation they were [illegible] loyal and devotional to the great cause of truth and justice but now forsooth, they sing another song—they begin to show the "white" or rather the black feather. When the time comes for them to demonstrate their faith and devotion, we find they are false to their professions. They refuse to come up manfully to the aid of the nation and cheerfully accept Uncle Sam's promises to pay as soon as the rebellion is quelled and peace and prosperity restored to the country. They seem to doubt the ability, honesty and integrity of the Government, and regard these notes as liable to become trash or fit for nothing, like private or local bank establishments incorporated in several of the Atlantic States a few years ago, mainly for the purpose of swindling the people out of their money or honest hard labor. But such is not the case with these United States Treasury notes. They are just as good as gold and silver which bears the same imprint and stamp of the Government of the United States. Our Government fixes the value of a certain piece of gold or a certain piece of silver, and these false friends are very ready and willing to take these pieces at their stamped value, without any discount. Recently the same Government has decided to place a certain value upon certain pieces of paper, but these particularly selfish dealers and distrustful money worshippers refuse to take this paper at its stamped value, notwithstanding the fact that they know that the value of their goods and wares is only established by the sufferage of this same Government.

What is property, and what is money?—Property is substances or things used by man to promote life, health and happiness. We use property for the purpose of protection, assistance and pleasure and its value to us is always subject to local laws and regulations, usually according to the demand and supply, and it must also be recollected that the right to use or vend the various kinds of property is also subject to local laws and regulations. These very same merchants who seek to set a value upon Uncle Sam's money must recollect that Uncle Sam has a better right to set a value upon their wares and merchandise. The value of property is materially affected by the protection afforded by the Government to the owners thereof, and when no protection is afforded but little value can ever attach to any species of property, even though its use be ever so much required.

Money is either coin or notes, metal or paper, and is known and used as a circulating medium in commerce. The value of money is also regulated by custom and the laws of the country. Some countries place more value upon a certain quantity, size or weight of a piece of coin than others, while a similar regulation also affects paper money, or bills of exchange. Money is only the representative of property, however, and when property is not in demand money can be of little service to the holder. Hence it is seen at a glance that in order to obtain wealth, or rather, to preserve life and to secure peace, pleasure, happiness and comfort, we must look to the protection of property rather than to money alone. Now, do those individuals, who seem to fear or doubt the prospects of this Government making good its promises, reflect that they are adopting the only means that could cause a full realization of their fears and doubts? Do they reflect that if the Government should fail their property will become worthless? Do they reflect that if the promises of the Government are not fulfilled and these Treasury notes become worthless, the value of their goods and merchandise will also fall to nothing? Finally, do they realize the fact, that if the Government is destroyed the protection and privilege which they now enjoy of holding and selling their goods will also be destroyed and that when that protection and privilege ceases the value of everything they own goes down with it?

The President received lately a very eloquent letter from that eminent Democrat Robert Dale Owen in which he urged him to issue, as he has done, a proclamation of freedom at the expiration of the sixty days of grace allowed by the Confiscation Emancipation Law.

Eastern News

NEW YORK, Oct [illegible] [illegible] from New Orleans [illegible] [illegible] battery. The gunboats [illegible] half one man killed [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Oct [illegible] [illegible]

General [illegible] arrived at Vera Cruz [illegible] with [illegible] Saligny, who is reported [illegible] mixed up with Mexican [illegible] guerrilla skirmish.

A dispatch from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac says Hancock's division left its [illegible] the road to Charlestown [illegible] beyond the town. We lost one killed and eight wounded. Hancock's troops entered Charlestown at noon, the enemy [illegible] hundred wounded behind. [illegible] advanced and drove the enemy [illegible] hill and at night [illegible] beyond the town. The rebel army [illegible] position extending from Bunker Hill to the Shenandoah.

Another dispatch from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac says: Yesterday morning when Hancock's division advanced to Charlestown, Gen W[illegible] division crossed the Potomac at Shepherdstown, taking the road leading to Smithfield, a small village between Charlestown and Bunker Hill. Gen W[illegible] encamped [illegible] between [illegible] miles from Smithfield. [illegible] with but slight resistance during [illegible] from the enemy's mounted pickets. This morning he advanced [illegible] within three miles of Bunker Hill where he met the cavalry of Hancock's division. Before reaching this point however the enemy was to be found in very large force. There [illegible] not sufficient evidence [illegible] certain whether the main body of the rebel army was there. No doubt the rebel Generals intend to give battle [illegible] present location. [illegible] they will not have to wait long before they again meet the Army of the Potomac.

A RAID IN THE REAR.—The reported success of the Democrats at the recent election in Ohio is a raid in the rear of the Administration. By postponing the draft and draining the State of loyal volunteers the Government has almost thrown that great Commonwealth into the hands of the enemy—for the party that follows the lead of such a man as Vallandigham must be inimical to the National honor and the integrity of the Union. Ohio has at least seventy-five thousand voters in the field and in their absence the minority composed of men who do not approve of the war in which these soldiers are engaged and who are ready to seal their devotion to the Constitution by compromising with the traitors who have trampled that instrument under foot are enabled to elect a majority of the delegation to represent the State in the next Congress. There may be war "Democrats" among those elected in Ohio but the name of the old party has been so prostituted in the service of treason that a Democratic success anywhere gives ground for apprehension. Still the manifestation of Administration strength in the New England States where elections have been held, and in Pennsylvania and Indiana furnishes assurance that unless the friends of "the Union as it was," under Buchanan for instance, make larger gains at the November elections, the President will have the support of a working majority of the lower House during the remainder of his term of office. Thus far, the Opposition have gained one member in Maine, one in Indiana, four in Pennsylvania and five in Ohio, and lost one in Oregon, leaving a net gain of ten. By vigilance and earnest labor the effects of this raid in the rear of the Union army may be neutralized.—Sacramento Union.

The Fee Bill

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

There was much talk the last day of the session, of a "Fee Bill" that was missing in the Senate, and the Statesman mentions that the same was found in the desk of the President, after the adjournment.

Dr Bowlby naturally feels indignant that the suspicion should rest on him of making away with it and I have no hesitation in exonerating him entirely.

The last I saw of the bill, a member of the Senate borrowed it of me to read, and as he did not return it I did not feel disposed to expose him.

I declared in Salem that the bill must have been put in the drawer after the Doctor left town, and do not think the Statesman suspected the Doctor half as much as it did myself.

S. A. CLARKE,
Late Chief Clerk of Senate.

MEMBERS OF THE LATE LEGISLATURE.—We publish on the outside of this morning's issue a table giving the names, counties represented, nativity, State emigrated from, age, occupation, post office address, and number of years residence in Oregon of each and all the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Legislative Assembly of this State, who composed the recent session held at the Capital, and which adjourned on the 17th inst. This table was compiled by Mr H B Parker, Sergeant at Arms of the House and is no doubt correct—to whom we are under obligations for furnishing us with the same for publication.

ANOTHER INVASION OF SOUTHERN RIGHTS.—We have from New Orleans a curious correspondence about negro babies. It seems that the State of Louisiana has formerly been in receipt of a very nice little revenue from the sale of all the negro children born of convicts in the State Prison. Some stupid Yankee has taken it into his head that raising human beings for sale in this way is wrong, and so he writes to Gen Butler asking his opinion. Uncle Ben tells him not to sell another baby.

COTTON.—A Memphis correspondent writes that since the opening of the river south of Fort Pillow there has been a great mania for speculation in cotton. Men of all classes finding the staple could be bought very cheap in the interior and an immense profit made thereon invested their means in the business, and many have made fortunes at it, while the supplies thus obtained have gone to revivify manufactures in the North and East.

American Unity

[illegible] difference in [illegible] between the people of the North and South. They say that the [illegible] Cavaliers [illegible] the Keatneys [illegible] the North [illegible] Roundheads [illegible] the two classes [illegible] exist [illegible] external [illegible] by which they can be distinguished. If anything, the [illegible] that the Roundheads have swallowed up the Cavaliers and colored the nation homogeneous.

[illegible] theory of the [illegible] Cavaliers and Roundheads [illegible] America [illegible] England [illegible] In strong contrast with this [illegible] the actual [illegible] American unity [illegible]

If the North [illegible] succeed [illegible] nearly a century the same [illegible] they have [illegible] together under the same Constitution with the same destinies [illegible] means devoid of greatness.

Such a history is a bond. More than one glorious memory, more than one illustrious name causes the hearts of men to beat alike in the North and South. Far from discovering there two peoples naturally hostile [illegible] a single people [illegible] whose unity is [illegible] indestructible. Not only is there unity of language, unity of [illegible] unity of race and unity of religion, [illegible] it would be difficult to find [illegible] apart from slavery any serious cause of antagonism. The solidarity of interests is [illegible] ideal; there is no rivalry: the agricultural South completes the manufacturing North; the rich cultures of the South have need to prosper of the capital of the North, the entrepots of the North the vast commerce of the North.

It is puerile to raise up a few differences of character and manners, and transform them into causes of disruption. There is no great people which does not comprise such contrasts within itself; they do not endanger unity: they strengthen it on the contrary, by introducing therein the element of diversity. Then the people of the North and South with their emigrating habits are much more closely intermingled than is confessed. How many families number members at the present time in both contending sections!

The geographical unity will strike every one who looks at the map of America. Seek natural limits, possible limits—you will not find them. A great arterial communication, the Mississippi passes through the central valley where beats the heart of the people, numerous branches, canals, railroads establish a momentary contact between the most distant portions of the territory.

The necessities of defense are to America a supreme law of unity. If the South, which talks about independence wishes to remain independent, I advise it not to set itself apart; it will soon be obliged to place itself, in consequence, under the protection of some European power. As to the North, once separated from the States which make it a whole, it is in danger of being like a dismantled fortress, which may be entered henceforth by the breach.

Nothing less than the blind passions of slavery could close one's eyes to truths like these. Who will dare say that these eyes will not be opened? If the leaders at Richmond be overthrown, will not the day come when reasonable and patriotic Southern men (and these are not lacking) will perceive in what sort of a path they have been forced? Seeing on one side that the golden dream of Southern greatness is but a dream, recognizing, on the other that the Yankees are not so ferocious, so thirsty for oppression and vengeance as had been said, feeling both the final ruin of their country and the greater or lesser domination of Europe approaching with rapid strides, will they not become reconciled to those who will restore them greatness, independence and prosperity?

Two sentiments subsist in the South, the American sentiment and the republican sentiment. Its monarchical tendencies exist only in the imaginations of our newspaper correspondents. As to the affection for Europe see with what painful earnestness the South and the North, united at least in this, lately witnessed the progress of the plans of Spain first in St. Domingo and then on the very continent of the New World! The shudder which runs through America to-day, from one end to the other reveals its unity to itself.

This unity appears to me so deeply seated that I persist in believing in it for the future even though it should be necessary to renounce it for the present. I can scarcely admit that the patriotism of Southern men will always [illegible] and deliver up America. Weary of the yoke of wretched [illegible] and violence which is now weighing upon them will they never turn their eyes toward these free institutions which have given them so many years of prosperity and greatness? When they know, beyond the possibility of doubt that in destroying the United States they have not done the least thing toward founding the glorious Southern empire, that their slavery has none the less received its death blow, that a permanent war is ravaging their frontiers, that a foreign power is entering and ruling among them, that their ruin is becoming definitive, that their downfall is about to be accomplished without remedy, will not an irresistible reaction take place?

[illegible] in any one of the [illegible] paragraphs [illegible] all the writings of De Bow and other Southern [illegible] reveal [illegible] There is a unity written in the history, the geography, the literature, the politics of the United States, which no rebellion will ever be able to erase. Wherever the eye turns it meets [illegible] One country, one destiny, and Jeff Davis and all his myrmidons will never succeed in effacing it.—[illegible]

The Suez Canal is nearly completed and the Viceroy announces that its opening shall be celebrated by a solemn [illegible], to which the world is invited.

YREKA, Oct [illegible]

NEW YORK, Oct 1[illegible]—The [illegible] Harper's Ferry correspondent says [illegible] yesterday was most brilliantly [illegible]. The enemy has been [illegible] between Bunker Hill and Winchester. [illegible] main body occupies a line parallel with Bunker Hill and Berryville, with [illegible] on the Shenandoah [illegible] Our [illegible] Humphrey [illegible] Shepherdstown [illegible] twelve miles [illegible] towards [illegible] division at Charlestown [illegible] main body at Bunker Hill. Capt. [illegible] with a squadron [illegible] cavalry, made a reconnoissance from Charlestown to within five miles of Bunker Hill yesterday, driving in the enemy's pickets. [illegible] quantity of rebels were supported [illegible] artillery when he returned.

WASHINGTON, Oct 18th—A dispatch from headquarters of Army of the Potomac says the [illegible] Hancock [illegible] Bunker Hill [illegible] with [illegible] Humphrey [illegible] with artillery [illegible] Our loss was one killed and six wounded. The [illegible] crossed the Potomac safely last night at Shepherdstown with a number of prisoners. One hundred rebel wounded left at Charlestown were brought within our lines and will be paroled. [illegible] rebel loss [illegible] at 30 or 40 killed.

NEW YORK, Oct 18.—The Times Harper's Ferry correspondence says the force which went on a reconnoissance to Charlestown and vicinity returned to Bolivar Heights yesterday, the object of the expedition having been fully carried out.

PLEASANT VALLEY, Oct 17.—[illegible] Stuart is at a point four miles from [illegible] on the Occoquan river. Gen. Lee is at Stephenson's depot five miles [illegible] Winchester. Gen. Longstreet is [illegible] above Winchester. Stonewall Jackson is at Bunker Hill.

NEW YORK, Oct 18.—A letter dated Fayal, Madeira, Sept 18th says on the 8th and 9th, a rebel steamer supposed to be the Alabama, burned seven whalers and a sea [illegible]

Jefferson City, Mo, October 18th—The steamer Emilie was captured Thursday night by a band of guerrillas. The passengers were robbed, the stores taken and the boat was then allowed to proceed.

Louisville, Oct 16.—On the 15th, Bragg left with 40,000 men, was at Crab Orchard and rapidly retreating towards Mount Vernon and London. Kirby Smith is also reported in vicinity of Manchester.

Cairo, Oct 18.—Gen Price is gathering a large number of troops at Holy Springs, Miss., with a view, it is said, of attacking some point on the Mobile and Ohio railroad.

New Orleans continues healthy. The rebel steamer Blanche has been chased ashore six miles from Moro Castle near Havana, her crew leaving and firing her. The vessel was totally destroyed with her cargo of cotton. Some anxiety is felt on board the Saxon for the safety of the steamer Matanzas, which left New Orleans some days before the Saxon in company with a suspicious steamer. The latter had been disabled. Nothing has been heard of the Matanzas. She had several passengers, and a large amount of specie on board.

Louisville, Oct 18th.—A gentleman who left Charleston on the 20th Sept gives a gloomy picture of affairs there. All the necessaries of life are at starvation prices. Large amounts of counterfeit Confederate notes were in circulation. He says the Charlestonians have completed two formidable rams which will be put into service as soon as men can be obtained.

☞ The attention of the community is respectfully solicited to the New Goods arrived by the last steamer—embracing a full line of Ladies' Silk Mantillas, French Bonnets, Florals, new style Hats, Challie Poplins and Debeges together with a full assortment of Gents New Style this Cassimere suits, Fancy Sacks, Broadway styles of Business Suits, and the very latest fashion of Parisian and New York Fancy Summer Panama Braid and Light Cassimere Hats. ☞ Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL, and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches" or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

POPULATION OF THE CITY OF PORTLAND.—We have been kindly furnished by Mr. Aaron Bushwiler with the following statement of the population of Portland, compiled from the census report he has been for the last three or four weeks engaged in completing for a City Directory, which will appear shortly, viz:

|---|---|
| Males, 21 years and upwards | 1,110 |
| Males over 10 and under 21 years | 221 |

Thus it will be seen that Portland is fast assuming the proportions of a city of considerable magnitude. When we reflect that four or five years ago, the town could not muster over 1,000 or 1,200 inhabitants—and we might bring the comparison up to a much more recent date, and state that two years ago the city probably did not contain over 2,000,—we can begin to realize the rapid progress made in population. We believe that the city has increased at least 1,000 within the last twelve months. But the increase in population is not the main point of advancement made by our city: The increase in wealth has been still greater, and what is still more encouraging, the increase both in point of population and wealth has been of a substantial and permanent character. Our wealth and population has not come to us like many other towns on this coast—here to-day and gone to-morrow—but when a resident, merchant or trader, settles down in our city, he settles to stay.

Eighteen months ago, and any number of vacant houses could be found in the city, but to-day scarcely a shell can be obtained sufficient to shelter a small family, and the demand great and constantly increasing. Rents are up at an exorbitant figure, and before a house is half completed at least a half dozen applications are made to rent the whole building or parts of it. Many houses contain two or more families, and people are crowded and huddled into every nook and corner of the city affording the least protection or shelter from the storms. There are a large number of hotels, restaurants, and board-houses in the city, every one of which is crowded almost to overflowing. In fine, the town is full of people, and more coming in. As has been noticed by us on several former occasions, improvements of all kinds are constantly and rapidly going on; buildings going up in all parts of the city; streets graded and planked; wharfs and ware-houses stretching their gigantic proportions along the levies, and a general [illegible] and busy hum greets the ear or attracts the attention of a stranger upon every street and corner. Hurrah for Portland, say we.

PETIT LARCENY.—We understand that a P.M. arrested a fellow last evening while attempting to steal a pair of garters from an Indian squaw, on the corner of Front and Washington streets. The chap would have succeeded had it not been that the squaw had a little too much "brass" for him.

DANGEROUSLY HURT.—We regret to learn that Mr. John Garrison was the unfortunate man who fell into a deep hole on Washington street on Wednesday night last, (the night of the fire,) and is said to be dangerously injured. The hole into which he fell is intended as a cistern, which was in course of completion and had been left uncovered; a very inexcusable neglect on the part of those who were attending to the work.

DID NOT SAIL.—The Sierra Nevada did not sail last evening as advertised. She will sail this evening at five o'clock, positively and [illegible].

THANKS—To the Post Office News Depot for copies of interesting periodicals and illustrated magazines, received yesterday.

DIVINE SERVICES.—The Rev. Mr. Hines will preach in the Congregational Church to-morrow (Sabbath) at half-past eleven o'clock A. M.

MASONIC NOTICE.—A Special Meeting of Willamette Lodge No. 2 F. & A. M. will be held this Saturday evening at seven o'clock.

By order of W. M.

Oct. 25, 1862. S. PENNOYER, Sec'y.

EXTRAORDINARY NOTICE.—"Jimmy Costello," of the "Shades Saloon," gives an "extraordinary" notice to the public in this morning's issue. "Jimmy" has "extraordinary" things about his establishment, and is himself an "extraordinary" good fellow, and deserves "extraordinary" patronage by all who like "extraordinary" drinks or "extraordinary" dishes of "extraordinary" oysters extraordinarily.

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever yet invented. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a Knuckle, giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is thereby avoided.

These instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others. They can be washed at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.
